

Jeffrey R. Handy is associate attorney at Babcock Scott & Babcock, P.C., Utah's preeminent law firm specializing in construction law. Mr. Handy graduated from the J. Reuben Clark Law School at Brigham Young University in 2011 and is licensed to practice law in the State of Utah. Mr. Handy's practice is focused on legal matters related to the construction industry, including contract disputes, mechanic's liens, and insurance issues. Prior to attending law school, Mr. Handy received a Bachelor of Science degree and Masters of Science degree in Civil and Environmental Engineering from Brigham Young University. Mr. Handy also worked for a short time as an engineer developing computer software used to model and simulate the movement of groundwater. Mr. Handy currently serves as the Secretary for the American Society of Civil Engineer's (ASCE) Government Relations Committee.